CyberKnife:
A Painless and Precise Cancer Treatment — Close to Home

North Shore Radiation Therapy is proud to offer CyberKnife as a treatment for cancer patients on Long Island. The CyberKnife System is not actually a knife — it’s a computer-controlled, robotic radiation delivery system that attacks tumors with high doses of radiation from virtually any direction or angle with pinpoint accuracy. No incisions, cutting or anesthesia are required.

- CyberKnife may be an option if surgery is not possible.
- CyberKnife is so precise that higher doses of radiation can be delivered because there’s less of a chance of healthy tissue being damaged. This reduces the duration and number of treatments.
- CyberKnife is an outpatient procedure, so you come to our office, not a hospital.
- Each treatment, which can take as little as 30 to 45 minutes, feels like an X-ray. There’s no pain or sensation.
- Side effects are minimal: you won’t feel sick, feel a burning sensation or lose your hair.
- Stereotactic radiation procedures such as CyberKnife are covered by many insurance companies.
- If you’ve already received radiation therapy, you might still be a candidate for CyberKnife for future treatment.
- Patients can go home or back to normal activities the very same day and complete their treatment in under a week (one to five office visits).
